The pretty Megan Montaner finds happiness doing cinema and especially comedies, the actress explains to us. Also, she confesses that it has been good to work with Hugo Silva.

Megan, 'Gods and Dogs'. What you think you are more, God or dog?

I think that we are all a little dog, but you have to discover who the gods are and who the dogs are so doubt is sown.

Are there gods and dogs in the world?

I think that it is fraught.

Tell us about your role.

Adela is a teacher from Santander who accidentally ends up in a school in Madrid and is in chaos, her life is a constant hurricane. She is very positive, very energetic despite everyone else. In time she finds solutions to her problems, is the fleck of colour in her companions' lives.

Are you like her?

Yes. The two of us are very energetic, restless, and cheerful.

In the fiction you arrive in Hugo Silva's life which is messed up.

That is what we have to ask, who would mess up someone's life, and hopefully in a good way.

What would a project have to have for you to accept?

It has to have a good story, after having confidence in the director, how it moves and its quality. In this case I accepted it, as I've never done anything before that had a touch of comedy in it. Before it I had done dramas and I said that I wanted to change it up a little bit, be current and laugh a little.

'Sin Identidad', second season.

It's great. The truth is that filming is going excellently, and you have an eager to film. The revenge is hard to get, but it's good revenge.

Recently actor Pedro Peña, Lydia Bosch's [Lydia stars in 'Sin Identidad' alongside Megan] co-star in the series 'Médico de familia', passed away.

With any loss, there is no happiness, or any good moments. I didn't know him personally but it is this industry's loss.

What other projects do you have?

In April we are going forward with a comedy.

You are beginning to get a taste [in the comedy genre].

Yes, I am beginning to get a taste in the movies and to laugh [at them].

Do you support Spanish cinema?

Of course, and that is why we are here.
